

FEDERAL AID IN PROBE OF MURDER ASKED

Minneapolis Police Chief Admits He is "Hampered"

Minneapolis, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The United States Department of Justice was asked today by Chief of Police Frank Forestal to take full charge of the Walter Liggett murder investigation.

Chief Forestal refused to disclose why he had made the request. He had conferred with federal operatives in St. Paul.

Earlier in the day, Attorney General Cummings in Washington said he had received the telegram of Mrs. Liggett, who also asked federal investigation of the crime. The attorney general said he was doubtful whether such an inquiry could be made since no federal law was involved.

The possibility that Liggett, a sub-machine gun was advanced by Chief Forestal. One of the death bullets, he said, had been examined by police officers Ray Harrington and Glen Northrop and both asserted it had been fired from a sub-machine gun.

"I am hampered by circumstances and conditions," Chief Forestal said, "and I have sent the bullet to the Department of Justice at Washington." Forestal said if the government finds the bullet was fired from a sub-machine gun, he would again urge federal authorities to step into the case.

The machine gun angle would supply the federal government with grounds for taking charge of the investigation, authorities said, since the possession of such a weapon is a federal offense. All of the fatal bullets were of .45 caliber.

Legislative investigation into state crime conditions with particular emphasis on Minneapolis, termed by Attorney General Cummings a year ago "a poison spot of crime," echoed the assassination today.

Two special assistant state attorneys general scrutinized the publisher's last issue of the Mid-West American for evidence against Liggett's slayer.

State Offers Reward

The killing spurred state legislators in special session to discuss an investigation into crime conditions and the posting of a $2,500 reward for apprehension of the killer.

The widow, however, spurned a proposal of United States Senator Thomas D. Schall (R-Minn.) in Washington to ask a congressional investigation.

"Schall is trying to make a capital out of my husband's murder," she declared. "If he wanted to help Walter why did he wait until now?"

Paralleling Killings

Paralleling the killing of Howard Guilford, another editor, whose assassins of a year ago have never been caught, Liggett was slain in much the same manner. Like Guilford, Liggett drummed incessantly against what he branded a "crime-political alliance," an undertaking which Mrs. Liggett said she would continue.

Mrs. Liggett telegraphed Attorney General Cummings in Washington last night, urging a federal investigation and insisting local and state authorities "will not see justice done."

Isadore (Kid Cann) Blumenfeld, liquor salesman, held without charge in connection with the slaying, was identified by the widow, who said the grinning face of the slayer was etched on her memory.

He denied the accusation, claiming "30 or 40" reputable witnesses would bear out his alibi that he was in a barber shop a mile and a half away at the time.

Young Bandit Taken Back to Prison Cell

Alfred Manning was taken from the county jail to the Joliet penitentiary this forenoon by State Parole Officer Clyde Rohra of Kewanee. Manning, a former convict who has been on parole for several months, was turned over to the state authorities for violation of his probation. He was being held to the Lee county grand jury for his complicity in the hold up of James Cledon in the latter's place of business about three weeks ago and for the attempted robbery of the Northwestern passenger station ticket office last February. It was reported that he would be removed from Joliet to the Chester penitentiary.

Bureau Co. Grocer's Injuries are Fatal

A fractured skull, suffered last Saturday when he fell from the running board of an automobile, caused the death today of Edward Warkins, 35, Ohio, Bureau county grocery owner.

U. S. TREASURY IS CONTINUING SILVER BUYING

Has Made Purchases of Precious Metal Every Day During Week

Washington, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The treasury reported today it had acquired 761,744,000 ounces of silver since the beginning of steps taken to bolster the price of the metal. This announcement was made shortly after Secretary Morgenthau not only denied that the treasury had stopped silver purchases but asserted it had bought every day this week.

The department said it had acquired 56,943,000 fine ounces under the president's proclamation of December 21, 1933, which authorized the purchase of the newly mined product.

Silver purchased since the silver purchase act became law, June 19, 1934, amounted to 591,800,000 ounces. Silver transferred to the treasury under the nationalization order was 113,031,000 fine ounces.

First Computation

The statistics are complete, the treasury said, through the close of business December 6, and the computation is the first of the sort ever made.

"I am continuing to carry out the mandate of the silver purchase act," Morgenthau said. "I have bought silver every day this week—on Monday, on Tuesday, and on Wednesday, in many different places."

It was on Tuesday the London silver market collapsed because of a lack of buyers. Brokers attributed this condition to a treasury halt in purchases.

Morgenthau said the department had departed from its usual practice of concentrating purchases in London, but refused to locate this week's purchases. He declined to say whether this departure would be continued.

Likewise he would not say whether any direct purchases were made in China.

Cites Section of Law

Morgenthau hinted that the silver price situation may have been involved in the treasury action when he read a section of the silver purchase act and called specific attention to this passage, governing buying in carrying out the law's mandate.

PENSION ACT BY CHRISTMAS IS UNLIKELY

Leisurely Senate and Loquacious House, Delay Action

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Continued delays today increased the prospect that the special legislative session won't do anything about old age pensions until after the Christmas holidays.

As the leisurely senate and loquacious house took another Wednesday night until Tuesday morning recess, Speaker John P. Devine said: "It is possible but not probable that we will be able to adjourn sine die next week."

Other responsible Democrats agreed that one more delay would mean that the state's pension system would not be changed to meet federal standards until after January 1, the date when payments were originally scheduled to start.

The senate accomplished nothing on pensions this week. Democratic senators couldn't agree and it was decided late yesterday to pass the bill without striking out week-old amendments. The start of a roll-call brought a sudden shift in plans and the whole question was dropped until Tuesday night.

Some of the Democrats want to comply with the apparent wishes of Governor Horner and strike out the troublesome amendments, which eliminate kinship responsibility and increase from $360 to $550 the maximum annual income permitted a pensioner.

Whatever happens, the bill must be sent back to the house, with a conference committee a possibility. That might take more than a week, especially on the two-day schedule, and postpone the actual start of the pension administration until January.

The senate also must send to the governor the companion bill creating county welfare commissions, appointed by the state, to administer the pensions. It passed the house yesterday with the aid of the votes of Republicans who objected that it destroys local control, yields to Washington domination and gives more power to organized social workers.

Also before the senate is the house bill increasing the old age pension appropriation from $5,000,000 to $9,000,000, the estimated yearly cost of the state's half of the $30 monthly to the destitute aged.

Small chance was seen for the house bills to put the state's system of blind and mothers pensions under the Roosevelt social security program.

The dependent children bill was blocked in the house when Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, Downers Grove Republican, raised the issue of destroyed local control. No effort was made to pass the blind pension bill. Both face senate opposition.

Contract for Dixon's Sewage Disposal Project Held in Abeyance Pending Outcome of Monday Vote

A special meeting of the city council was held last evening at which time bids for the proposed sewage treatment plant and relief sewer system were opened by Mayor William V. Slothower. The proposal was divided in two sections and the contractors submitted bids on one section and the relief sewer system in another.

Two bids were received on the building of the treatment plant. The Stark Building Company of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, submitted the lowest of the two bids, their figure being $99,940.00 which was $800 lower than the engineer's estimate. Edward W. Rocho of Preepoot submitted a bid of $95,415.00.

Franco-British peace proposals met a rebellious reception in League of Nations circles.

With Britain's consent King Fuad of Egypt signed a decree restoring constitutional government; league circles said London hastened drafting of the peace program due to anxiety over the Egyptian government crisis.

Fascists in Rome said tension between Italy and Great Britain had lessened with the submission of the peace plan.

FOUR PER CENT SALES TAX NOW SEEMS POSSIBLE

Increase Likely Unless Government Provides More WPA Jobs

By CURTIS R. HAY
Associated Press Staff Writer

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 12.—(AP)—The dark cloud of a four per cent sales tax appeared on the horizon today as Governor Horner and the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission appealed to Washington for an increase in the state's WPA quota beyond the 200,000 promised jobs.

The size of the increase, the governor said after a long meeting with IERC officials last night, would have to be 65,000 persons. With that many more taken from IERC rolls, Horner said, the state would have only 65,000 unemployed clients and could take care of them.

"It is apparent," Horner said, "that WPA has not done all we were assured it would. It has not taken care of all Illinois' employables."

Has Been Assured

The governor did not mention the possibility of a sales tax increase if Washington rejects the Illinois plea, but some of those who met with him did.

"The conference refused to speculate on the possibility that the WPA quota would not be increased," the governor said. "The government assured us all employables would be cared for by WPA."

Those present at the conference including John C. Martin, IERC chairman; Wilfred S. Reynolds, Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive secretary; John Stelle, state treasurer; Edward J. Barrett, state auditor; John P. Devine, speaker of the house; William H. Sexton, Chicago, commission member, and Leo Lyons, Cook county relief administrator.

Some of these recalled a recent statement on the floor of the house that "an increase in the sales tax is more likely than a reduction."

"Perhaps that wasn't such an idle statement as it might have appeared," one official commented.

152,000 ON WPA JOBS

The conference last night decided that from the November IERC total of 285,000 relief families, seasonal increases would bring the January roll up to 330,000, less whatever number had been placed on WPA. On Dec. 6, it was reported, 152,000 persons had been given WPA jobs. The government has promised that by the first of January 200,000 will be transferred.

The possibility that even if the WPA took all the employables, the state would have to continue aid for some of the same group was also indicated when the governor said the IERC might have to supplement WPA wages paid heads of large families. Martin said he believed the federal program would permit two jobs to a large family.

From the IERC offices here, however, came word that the commission was considering the possibility that at least one-fourth the WPA employees would need additional aid. The amount, it was understood, would vary from $3 to $10 a month.

On Cash Basis

However Governor Horner said that if Illinois was pushed to raise more funds for relief next year it would be by some other means than an increase in the sales tax.

"I am unequivocally opposed to increasing the sales tax to four per cent," he said.

The governor also announced that "as rapidly as possible all relief in the state will be transferred to a cash basis." This decision was reached, he said, following Attorney General Otto Kern's opinion yesterday that cash relief in Cook county was legal if individual budgets are submitted with each voucher.

To Cut IERC Force

Horner said the change would

Seven Arrested as Kidnapers of New York Jewelry Man

Chicago, Dec. 12.—(AP)—A former convict named by Police Capt. Daniel Gilbert as a Dillinger gang money changer and six other men were held today, suspected of kidnaping Milton Jackson, New York jewelry firm official, and robbing him of $35,000 in gains Sunday.

Capt. Gilbert said Meyer Bogue, 56, released Dec. 11, 1933, from the Indiana state prison, was the former Dillinger gangster.

The other arrested were James Brezak, 39, once an Indiana prison inmate; Harry Malin, 32, of suburban Cicero; Patrick J. Sullivan, 40, Chicago bartender; Meyer Gordon, former Chicago jeweler and pawnbroker; Irving Hornestein, 47, former Chicago jeweler and Frank Pishaw, 46, Chicago clerk.

Hijacking-Torture Story Investigated by U. S. Agents

Chicago, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Department of Justice agents today investigated a story of hijacking and torture related by Leslie Law, 32, Detroit, who said four gunmen held him captive two days and stole his truck and $5,000 cargo of greeting cards.

Law said the four released him yesterday near Sugar Grove, Ill. He told Deputy Sheriff Cecil Riley of Kane county the robbers captured him on Chicago's south side Monday night and kept him at a house near Joliet, Ill.

His captors scratched a cross on Law's chest, burned off most of his hair and seared the soles of his feet, Riley said he believed the four were degenerates.

The interstate nature of the stolen cargo, which Law was driving to Milwaukee, brought the Department of Justice into the case.

Patricide-Teacher Denied New Trial

Wise, Va., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Judge H. A. W. Skeen today denied a new trial for Edith Maxwell, 21-year-old school teacher sentenced to 25 years for the murder of her father.

Miss Maxwell broke into tears when Judge Skeen announced his oral decision after more than three hours of argument by attorneys.

"There is evidence upon which this verdict can stand," Judge Skeen said. "Therefore I overrule the motion of the defense for a new trial."

The court granted a sixty-day suspension of sentence in order to permit the defense to file its application for a writ of error to the supreme court.

ALLEGED KIDNAPERS OF CANADA MAN ARE TAKEN

Two Suspects Captured After Street Chase in Ottawa, Ill.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Two suspects in the kidnapping last year of John S. Labatt, millionaire Canadian brewer, were held by Department of Justice agents today for questioning after their capture yesterday in a street chase at Ottawa, Ill. It was not revealed where the agents were holding the men.

The prisoners were Russell Knowles, for whom the Canadian government posted a $5,000 reward and Herman Kierdorff, in whose Detroit resort the government charged the kidnapping was planned.

Arrested with them was Herman Herbst, Joliet, Ill., former bootlegger who served a two year term in Leavenworth prison.

One Not Implicated.

A Canadian police sergeant who with government agents seized the trio, said Herbst was not connected with the Labatt case, but he was held by LaSalle county authorities on a charge of carrying concealed weapons.

The arrests were confirmed by J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the Department of Justice Bureau of Investigation at Washington, but D. M. Ladd, head of the Chicago office would not comment. Ottawa authorities said Knowles and Kierdorff were brought to Chicago for questioning.

Labatt, kidnaped Aug. 14, 1934, near London, Ont., was held for a $150,000 ransom but when released said no money was paid. Michael

FINAL AUDIT OF CO. BOOKS IS ACCEPTED

Accounts of Former Treasurer Reported Settled

G. C. Wood of Rockford, in charge of the audit of the Lee county offices, reviewed the findings and made extensive recommendations for changes in the present "antiquated" system of book-keeping in practically every office at the court house, yesterday afternoon when he appeared before the county board. After a closed morning session, which also was attended only by State Attorney Jones and members of the auditing firm, the board assembled in official session yesterday afternoon to complete the business before an adjournment was taken until Jan. 3.

With the afternoon meeting being officially opened, Chairman William Burdick asked Leon Garrison, chairman of the finance committee: "Mr. Garrison, have all of the balances due the county been turned over?" To this question the Dixon assistant supervisor replied: "Yes, Mr. Chairman, all balances have been paid over."

Mr. Wood then explained his recommendations. A simpler system of records in all of the county offices to facilitate better book-keeping and to reduce the cost of extra office help; a more effective control of all funds in the various offices through the installation of a new and modern system of book-keeping; a change in the record system in the offices which will make the cost of accounting less than those made under the systems now in use.

Suggested Changes.

In his recommendations, Mr. Wood stressed the following: The settlement of all taxes on a basis of actual collection in place of the unsatisfactory method now in use; the conducting of an analysis to ascertain the cost of collection of taxes to replace the present list-and-miss system which is the source of too many errors; installation of addressographs in both the county treasurer and clerk's offices, a cancelling machine in the treasurer's office and the installation of an adequate filing system in this office; the use of a general ledger in all of the county offices; the issuance of duplicate receipts for all sums of money received in all offices; the installation of a fee register system in the clerk's office; a more complete cash book for receipts and expenditures in the county recorder's office; general ledgers in the state's attorney's and sheriff's offices together with a more complete cash

Attorney General in Personal Appearance to Defend New Deal

Washington, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Attorney General Cummings today asked a federal court "for practical and legal reasons" to delay action on constitutional challenges of the New Deal's utility law by seven holding companies.

He appeared before the District of Columbia Supreme Court as "chief law officer of the government." It was Cummings' first appearance at Attorney General before any tribunal but the U. S. Supreme Court.

Citing the suit already brought by the government against the Electric Bond & Share Company in New York, the Attorney General argued that further litigation is unnecessary at this time because: "Steps taken by the Attorney General, the Postmaster General, and the Securities & Exchange Commission have made it perfectly clear that, pending a Supreme Court adjudication upon the act, not one of these companies stands in any reasonable fear of any threatened action of any government official."

LOST CHANCES

By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

IN one of the sketches of Tomlinson, an old man is talking dreamily of days gone by, telling of the life he never lived.
A boy in a London shipping office, he had been sent to carry a letter to the captain of a wind-jammer loading in Dockland. It was his first visit to the docks, and he never forgot the amazing vista of sherry-butts and wine-casks, or the smell of spices, oakum, and hides.

At last he saw the vessel he was looking for, with its romantic name the Mulatto Girl, bound for the Brazils; on her deck the captain walking to and fro, a big, burly, kindly man with blue eyes.

"Do you want to come?" asked the captain, who, liking the lad and not knowing his errand, looked him in the face and talked business. "There's a berth for you if you want it. Come along, my son."

There was a fatal pause, due to the thrill of surprise and the challenge to his narrow lot, and his lack of knowledge; a pause which allowed habit to overcome his adventurous instinct.

The lad did not go to sea, but he spent his mature life regretting it. He went out to the docks, looking for the Mulatto Girl, but he never saw the magic ship again—it was sailing in far places.

To be sure, it would have been difficult at the moment to have gone. With no consent from his seniors and expected by his employer with an answer to the letter, he simply felt he could not go.

How often it is so. By a swift, unexpected shift of events we have a chance to do the thing we have dreamed of doing, and let it go by thinking we have ample time before we need to decide it.

But, alas, the real openings of life have a way of coming suddenly and only once. The decision of a moment, one way or the other, often determines a whole career—and is gone before we know it.

In an instant we have to take it or leave it. The tragedy is that we so often have to reject it because we are already tied by some duty or pledge. Anyway, we have something to dream about!

Installation Polo Eastern Star on Tuesday Evening

(Telegraph Special Service)

Polo, Dec. 12.—An unusually large crowd assembled in the Masonic hall at Polo Tuesday evening to witness the installation of officers of Cornithian chapter, Order of the Eastern Star. The beauty of the precisely perfect setting within the hall was greatly accentuated by a number of diminutive Christmas trees, blue-builed and brilliant in their various places. The effect was as that of a bit of moonlight borrowed from Old Winter's glittering outdoor display.

Mrs. Jennie Klome of Lanark, grand lecturer of the order of the Eastern Star of Illinois was the installing officer. She was assisted by Mrs. Alice Stuck, marshal; Mrs. Ida Wendle, chaplain; and Mrs. Milbrey Mulnix, organist. Mrs. Mulnix was the soloist and Miss Alice Ashford read an ode to the flag. The officers installed for the ensuing year were as follows:

Mrs. Ruth Lord—Worthy Matron.
Arveta Lord—Worthy Patron.
Mrs. Lillian Bulker—Associate Matron.
Ben Bulker—Associate Patron.
Mrs. Ruth Keeler—Conductress.
Mrs. Leota Bomberger—Assoc. Cond.

Mrs. Edith Coffman—Treasurer.
Mrs. Flora Hammer—Secretary.
To fill the appointive offices:

Adah—Mrs. Pearl Hanna.
Ruth—Mrs. Dolly Harmon.
Esther—Miss Dorothy Walton.
Martha—Miss Margery Drom.
Electa—Miss Mabel Katzmillier.
Chaplain—Mrs. Clara Peat.
Marshal—Mrs. Eva Davis.
Organist—Mrs. Carrie Wales.
Warden—Mrs. Anna Anderson.
Sentinel—Ray Keeler.
Two vocal solos by Miss Iva

Hanna, "A Brown Bird Singing," and "Madonna's Lullaby," contributed greatly to the evening's pleasurable entertainment as did also Miss Mabel Katzmillier's readings. Betty Wales, culled in a white satin blouse, abbreviated black trousers and silver slippers, caused favorable comment indeed as the tap-danced an original number to the playing of a popular tune, "Isn't This a Lovely Day?" Lunch was served, buffet style, from a table elaborately set with food in the approved holiday manner. Mrs. Ruth Spear and Mrs. Pauline Schell poured coffee.

Mrs. Chas. Eastman Hostess to Guild

A very pleasant all day meeting of the Unity Guild was held Thursday with Mrs. Chas. Eastman.

Twelve members and two guests, Miss Edna Burnham and little Charlotte Hill, enjoyed the tempting dinner at the noon hour.

Another quilt was started at this meeting and many blocks completed by the ladies.

Several letters of interest were read by the members, Mrs. C. H. Stackpole reading one from Dr. Preston Bradley, thanking the Guild for the beautiful quilt sent to them for their bazaar, which brought forty dollars and a joy to Unity Guild. Mrs. R. L. Johnson also received a letter of thanks for the lovely rug sent them. Mrs. O. P. Goetz read a letter from Miss Olive Schuckner and mother, who are now residents of Denver.

all of these letters being enjoyed by the members.

The usual happy Christmas gift exchange was carried out during the afternoon. The menu was planned for the January 16th meeting to be held with Mrs. Justin Darrah. This closed a very happy day with Mrs. Eastman.

THE PLEDGE AT BALTIMORE

It was in the fall of 1932, when Franklin Roosevelt, the candidate, was in Baltimore, that some one took up his advocacy of tariff reductions and asked him about reduction of tariffs on farm products.

"Of course, we will not do anything to injure our own people," was the reply.

Either that was a pledge not to reduce tariffs on farm products or it was a deception.

It doesn't make much difference which, for as Senator Hastings of Delaware said to the Hamilton Club in Chicago:

"If an accurate history is written, future generations will see a chapter entitled: 'Franklin D. Roosevelt's Administration: The Era of Deception—1933-1937.'"

In the face of the pledge not to do anything in way of tariff reduction to injure our own people, the reciprocity treaty was enacted and the rates formulated by agreement with Canada automatically became the prevailing rates with all countries with which we have treaties guaranteeing schedules equal to those of the most favored nation.

Defense, or further deception, will be found in the contention by the president that he has not done injury to "our own people," but that doesn't square with the statement issued by the Pure Milk Productive Cooperative association made up of 4000 Wisconsin dairy farmers, with headquarters at Madison.

Their announcement brands the Canadian concession "a dangerous reduction in tariff rates which will permit a much larger importation of dairy products and deprive domestic producers of protection in American markets, particularly in the east." The association has forwarded to President Roosevelt a protest, in which the principal grievances were as follows:

"1. Reduced tariff schedules on cheese, sweet and sour cream, and dairy cows are sufficient to permit heavy importations, which will increase surpluses in the United States and prove injurious to price levels.

"2. The agreement opens the way for the granting of similar concessions to other dairy producing nations, such as Denmark, which would further endanger the domestic market.

"3. Because Canada now maintains favorable tariff trade agreements with other British colonies, such as New Zealand, a heavy producer of dairy products it appears probable that the American dairy farmer will be forced to compete in an open world market."

HAUPTMANN HAPPENINGS HOLLOW

At this distance the sound in the Hauptmann case appears to be hollow. Although the assertion that Ellis H. Parker had been shunted off by the officials in charge of the investigation is intended to give public support to his "rump" investigation, that representation is a black mark against it, so far as we are concerned.

Officials may go far in their efforts to convict somebody, but we should not be asked to believe that the department of justice agents and the New Jersey authorities were in collusion to convict an innocent man, if Mr. Parker stood ready to point the way to the guilty one. Neither was it necessary to attend the trial and to hear all the evidence to see that the searchers had caught up with Bruno.

Defense gags were as old as the hills, and the only thing in them was the chance that enough confusion could be thrown into the case by tales about dead people, who could not speak, to create a doubt in the mind of one juror. It didn't even do that.

Something more substantial must be produced to discredit the verdict.

Three thousand Washington teachers must take monthly oaths not to mention or advert to the philosophy of Communism. Thus the Constitution is to be preserved by violating the spirit if not the letter of its first amendment.—Dr. D. R. Fox, president, Union college.

Racial nationalism and patriotic jingoism are the very opposite of patriotism, because patriotism is an aid to making a great nation, while jingoism makes a nation blind and therefore feeble.—Count Carlo Sporza, former Italian foreign minister.

We are perhaps the only great nation in the world that accepts uncritically its literary standards from a country (England) thousands of miles away.—Professor Howard M. Jones, University of Michigan.

READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE

The Swan and sled soon went to a tree and shouted, "I'm Jack from sight, and then an elf said, Frost!"

"Well, all right, we'll go and meet old Jack Frost, now. He is a funny sort."

"He's always just chock full of fun, and loves to see that work is done. He thinks whatever is done for Santa is a lot of sport."

"Well, he is right," said Doty. "Gee, what better pleasure could there be, when we all know that Santa's work is for good girls and boys?"

"I know, each year, on Christmas Day, kind Santa gets a loud hurra! He makes all of the wee folks happy with his toys."

Then Duncy loudly shouted, "Oh, I'm quite impatient. Come, let's go. I know that we'll like Jack Frost, and I hope he'll like us, too."

"The rest will work and so will I, so kindly tell Jack Frost we'll try to give old Santa Claus a real big lift, ere we are through!"

They walked a little ways and then the Tinymites started smiling, when a man jumped from behind

Then Duncy loudly shouted, "Oh, I'm quite impatient. Come, let's go. I know that we'll like Jack Frost, and I hope he'll like us, too."

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

STEEDS OF DAY AND NIGHT

AROUND and around the mythical mountain of Meru gallop the seven steeds of Hindu legend, trailing the sun god Surya in a chariot behind them and bringing forth day and night with each revolution. Daily, ever since creation, these seven animals, representing the seven colors of the rainbow, have been dashing along in one endless circle, slowing down in the summer heat to lengthen the days, and speeding up in the cool of the night, to shorten the darkness.

This is the Hindu legend of day and night, repeated most often in the state of Jaipur in India, where the princes are "Suryamshis," who trace their descent directly from the sun god. The shorter days and longer nights of winter aren't accounted for, but probably the seven horses dash through the cold days, as they do through the summer nights, and rest through the longer nights, to complete the cycle of 24 hours.

Several stamps of Jaipur show Surya and his seven-steed chariot. One is printed here.

ROCKEFELLER'S PURSE CLOSED TO BAP. CHURCH

Chicago, Dec. 11.—(AP)—Northern Baptist churches will invite their rank and file members to fill the gap in church finances left by the withdrawal of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., largest single contributor.

The church officials, in convention, announced they had completed plans for a combined religious-financial drive to be called the "forward movement."

They will attempt to "broaden the base of denominational security," it was announced, by an every member canvass, hoping "more complete participation not only in giving but in the whole range of religious life."

When Rockefeller closed his purse to the church it cut the Northern Baptists' income by an estimated 6 to 10 per cent, officials said. His contributions at their peak, besides special gifts, amounted, it was said, to about $400,000 a year.

The financial report showed however that the church receipts for the first seven months of the fiscal year, were only $45,274 less than in 1934, and the convention was told that increased donations were rapidly cutting down this deficit.

Hermann Neuerburgh, a director of the German tobacco cartel, announced after his trip to Brazil that beginning in 1936 "50 per cent of Germany's consumption of tobacco will be for Brazil's leaf product."

Christmas Cantata, "Bethlehem", by Troubadets — At Presbyterian church at 3:45.

Monday
Golden Rule Circle—Mrs. Ida Hartman, 616 N. Galena avenue

Book Review of Unusual Interest

Miss Anne Eustace gave a most interesting review of Dr. Cronin's book, "The Stars Look Down" in the Music room of the high school Tuesday afternoon. This is a difficult book to review, but Miss Eustace presented the story and characters in a vivid and forceful manner, greatly pleasing her audience who gave her undivided attention.

These book reviews are sponsored by the Literature Department of the Dixon Woman's Club and are open to the public. Any one interested in hearing these reviews are welcome to come.

"Bethlehem," Cantata at Presbyterian Church On Sunday Afternoon

"Bethlehem," the beautiful Christmas cantata, by Paul Bliss, will be presented on Sunday afternoon at the Presbyterian church, by the Troubadets, under the direction of Mrs. E. M. Goodsell. Just before the cantata, Clinton Fahney will give a recital of organ music, starting at 3:45 and playing until 4 when the cantata will be given. The cantata is presented under the auspices of the Auxiliary of the church. A male chorus will assist, and a number of Dixon's favorite soloists will have special parts.

New Books Dixon on Public Library

Will Rogers—O'Brien. A biography of the man who was "ambassador of good will and prince of wit and wisdom."

I Write As I Please—Walter Duranty. Arriving in Russia in 1920 when the civil war was still raging, Duranty brought with him many of anti-Bolshevik prejudices then current. He came to report; he remained to admire. As Moscow correspondent of the New York Times since 1920 he has gained such unrivalled knowledge of the Russian experiment and the whole post-war world that his stories have achieved long-range significance as well as making immediate front page drama.

Seven League Boots—Halliburton. Adventure in the well-known Halliburton manner; glorious and romantic, always smart-aleck and sometimes amusing.

Genetics—Jennings. The author brings before the reader the fundamental groundwork of genetics in sharply defined form and in a clear, readable style. Genetics is perhaps the outstanding American contribution to science in recent years, and this book is the first general account of the subject to be offered to the reading public by one of the pioneers in the field.

Modern History of Europe—Jackson. Four British historians, each an expert in the period he describes have written the four books which comprise this compact and timely resume of European affairs during the last nine centuries.

King Jasper — Edwin Arlington Robinson. With the death of Robinson, America lost one of the finest poets of our time. He was thrice awarded the Pulitzer prize, and was the most widely read serious American poet of our time.

Night Club Era—Stanley Walker. A story, or history of the places and people of the era which began with Prohibition in America, a rowdy period when senseless pleasures and skulduggery in high places were the order of the day. The names, the incidents, and the general atmosphere will be remembered by present day readers.

Woolcott Reader — Alexander Woolcott. Woolcott here presents a score of unusual works found off the beaten track, which have endeared themselves to him in a lifetime of reading—a unique collection of novels, biography, and treasured oddments of modern prose.

Tara, Daughter of the Gypsies—Kahmann. A story of gypsies in east side New York. For children 10 and up.

Valiant, Dog of the Timberline—O'Brien. The story of a faithful shepherd dog. For children 10 and up.

Nachusa Children to Present Pageant at Forreston, Princeton

On Sunday fifteen children from the Nachusa Home will be taken to Forreston, Ill., where they will present a pageant entitled "The Garden of the King." This will be given at the morning service in the Lutheran church of Forreston, and at the evening service in St. Mark's Lutheran church of Princeton.

The pageant is a beautiful thing based upon Christ's invitation, "Suffer little children to come unto me," and has been most graciously received by churches of northern Illinois, where capacity audiences have greeted the children. It was given four times in Chicago, earlier in the fall, as well as Oregon, Lena, Nachusa and Trinity church, Rockford. At each place the children were most happily entertained by the congregation, and gifts of money and food made to the Home.

The first two acts are laid in a garden in Bethabara, in the time of Christ, amid the stirring scenes of those days. Father Time then briefly sketches the effect of those scenes through the world's history to present day Christianity in the world's garden. Following is the cast:

Women of Bethabara: Marion, Ruby Switzer; Hannah, Helen Switzer; Sophia, Alice Christian; Sarah, Margery Helms; Eunice, Shirley Wing.

Children of Eunice: Saul, Herbert; Miriam, Genevieve Sass; Judith, Maryanne Rambo; Esther, Rosemary Hicks.

Abraham, the crippled son of Sophia, Billy Lampke.

Father Time, Herman Woolsey. Messenger, Clarence Abshire. First Girl, Carrie Carter. Second Girl, Alice Koon.

The musical numbers are accompanied and the solos played by Lester Kieffer of Dixon, and the pageant is directed by Miss Eleanor Powell.

The Grace W. M. S. met at the church Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Granville Reigle and Mrs. Darrell Palmer as leaders.

The meeting opened with the singing of two hymns. Mrs. Petrie read the Christmas lesson from the Second Chapter of Luke. Mrs. Isaac Divan led in prayer. Mrs. Elizabeth Shaffer read a poem "What Have You Done?" Mrs. Ida Hartman gave the lesson study, "The Women of the Modern World of South America." Mrs. Will Shriner gave a delightful reading "Yourself in Her Place." A verse of another hymn was sung. Current events were given—Africa, by Mrs. Wisner and Redbird Mission by Mrs. McCordie, Racine notes—Mrs. Pearl Shults. The meeting closed with sentence prayers. An election of officers resulted in Mrs. Roy Pinney being elected president; Miss Ann Johnson, first vice president; Mrs. Harry Giles, second vice president; Sec., Mrs. Will Shriner, Cor. Sec., Mrs. Lawrence Sheets; pianist, Mrs. Archie Klein; Y. P. M. C., Mrs. Aft D. ## Selecting Books For Children at Christmas Is Chore

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
"Reading for Fun" is the slogan adopted this year for Children's Book Week. Hurrah for that! It's high time we realized that reading for sheer delight is the only way we'll ever get children to look on paper between covers with favor. Yes—good laughs, thrills, shivers and goose-flesh have more use than the minute's entertainment. They are agents, friendly scouts sent out by Good Old Man Knowledge to cultivate the Book Habit. Once he has the youngsters hooked ed he nods sagely, this Old Fellow Knowledge does, and reaches behind him slyly pulling down volumes marked, "Sensible Reading" or "Drier Reading" or "Informative Reading" and he hasn't a bit of trouble getting them interested because, you see, they like books.

Don't Rely on Clerk to Make Selection

But this does not mean that good-for-you books or informative ones are different from the pure-story books. Not at all. Authors of every variety of children's books are well aware that the nice little lessons have to be iced with the nice pink letters of a good story to carry them.

So in reading for fun all is not searers and shivers. All is not adventure, or laughter. Fun here means more than that. It means interest.

Parents used to go to a store, they still do, and ask for a good book for a boy of six or a girl of eight. Actually it isn't necessary—besides the poor clerk is dizzy usually with all that wealth of books about her trying to compare one with another. It's like asking someone to decide for you whether to buy a diamond, a star sapphire or a pigeon-blood ruby.

The best way is to take time out and look about. Browse a little and pick out certain ones. (They're always stacked up in special piles) that seem to suit the "type" child you want it for.

Don't make up your mind that it has to be a so-called classic or none. Don't decide that because an author is one strange to you or outside the Stevenson-Kipling-Ruley class that "his" or "her" books are not a safe investment. True, these classic writers are criterion because they understood the "spirit" of childhood. But it is also true that most modern writers for children seem also to be especially equipped.

Classic Isn't Sole Criterion for Choice

From the A B C Books to Shakespeare many of the books for children today may be headed under "classics." "Classics" is an elastic term. I only wish that a tenth of the books for adults fitted into the rules as consistently (and almost invariably) as those written for children.

At any rate, classic or not, the book that adds to a child's happiness is doing good if it does nothing else but "set" his desire to read. Once this happens his taste may be gradually diverted into whatever channels his parents or teachers think best.

Poor Fitting Shoes a Real Beauty Ailment

BY ALICIA HART.
The girl who looks well in her clothes, moves gracefully and seldom looks worn generally is one who wears comfortable shoes and takes excellent care of her feet. When you buy winter shoes, don't forget that too tight or too short ones can put lines across your brow and give your mouth a tired, pouty look.

The last is important, too. Ask the shoe salesman not only to measure your foot but to let you try on several different lasts. If you can't walk gracefully in high heels, by all means get lower ones. Since all heel heights are fashionable now, your choice should depend on your type of foot. Even though you like to wear three-inch heels to teas and dances, don't try

Helps For Housewives

CLEANING DAY NOTE
Baste up the buttonholes of a sweater before washing so that they will not stretch. When washing a woolen sweater, always put it on a hanger when it is drying and do not use clothes pins.

Do not wash mirrors or glass with a very wet rag or some of the water may penetrate back of the frame and injure the glass. A good, damp chamois rag is useful for this purpose.

If one tumbler has become stuck in another in piling them by the kitchen sink, pour cold water in the upper glass which will contract it. Then let the lower glass soak in warm water and the glasses will become disengaged.

OPENING OYSTERS
Opening oysters is not always such an easy task. But here is a simple way of doing the job. Push a thin knife under the flat valve of the oyster and cut the adductor muscle that is there. Then the valve may be lifted up in such a way that it is quite separated from the lower valve that holds the oyster.

VEGETABLE POITERS
One-half cup of milk added to the water in which cauliflower is being boiled will keep the vegetable firm and fresh looking.

If you wish to remove the skins from beets with greater ease—put the beets in hot water for a short while. Then pour off the hot water and give them cold water immediately. The skins will come off quickly.

Put tomatoes in boiling water before peeling to lighten this particular chore. The same idea can be used when peaches are around once more so make a mental note of it.

If you have put too much salt in the food and are worried for fear your whole meal will be a failure, take a raw potato and put it in the pot with the overly salted food. The potato will take away much of the salt.

SHEET REPAIRS
When your sheets begin to wear, rip off the torn part and re-hem the remainder. These smaller sheets may be used for cots for the children, and are also invaluable as draw sheets in case of illness.

An eggplant, large orange, apple or grapefruit can be used for holding the appetizer sticks which are so popular now.

GREAT RAILROAD EMPIRE BUILDER DIED THIS MORN

M. J. Van Sweringen of Famous Brothers, Acquired Many Lines

Cleveland, O., Dec. 12—(AP)—M. J. Van Sweringen, who with his brother, O. P. rose from obscure poverty to build a great rail empire died in a hospital here today after several months illness.

The first intimation that he was ill came during a hearing several weeks ago over reorganization of the Missouri Pacific, which is controlled by the Van Sweringens brothers.

Van Sweringen failed to appear. His brother made a brief statement that he was ill in a hospital with influenza.

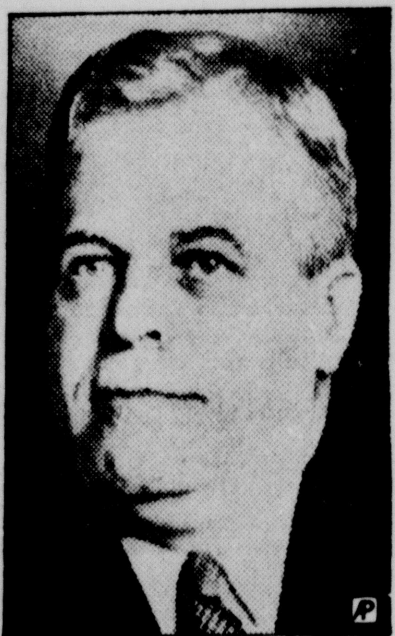

O. P. declined to elaborate on the nature of the illness.

The hospital refused any statement.

John J. Berner, executive president of the Van Sweringen railroads, who aided the brothers in building up their railroad empire died only a few months ago.

Brothers Inseparable

The brothers, always inseparable, started life near Wooster, O.

MANITIS J. VAN SWERINGEN

as newsboys, coming to Cleveland when in their teens. They secured employment as office boys here.

Seeing possibilities in growing Cleveland for real estate development, they entered the business only to fail.

Undaunted they learned that 2,000 acres of land was on the market near Cleveland. Borrowing money, they purchased options and built one of the most exclusive suburbs, Shaker Heights.

To provide transportation to their development they purchased a rapid transit line. This was their first venture into the transportation field.

In 1916 they learned that the New York, Chicago & St. Louis railroad was for sale. They borrowed $2,000,000 from Cleveland banks and purchased it. From what was known as a "streak of rust" they turned it into a paying proposition with Berner as the operating head.

From then on their rise in railroading was rapid. They purchased the Toledo, St. Louis & Western; the Lake Erie & Western; the Detroit, Toledo Shore Line; the Chesapeake & Ohio; the Pre-Marquette; the Hocking Valley; Erie and Wheeling & Lake Erie, which they consolidated into one great system. Later the Missouri Pacific and its subsidiaries were added to their railroad kingdom.

Built Big Terminal

Through holding companies they controlled more than 21,000 miles of railroads with a total value of nearly three billion dollars. In addition they erected on Cleveland's public square a 52 story railroad terminal, costing $200,000,000.

Never in the spotlight, the brothers lived a secluded life at their Daisy Hill farm near Cleveland. Physicians said the cause of death was "general exhaustion brought on by mental and emotional strain." He was 54 years old.

Neither brother ever married. Van Sweringen is survived by his brother, O. P., and two sisters, Edith and Carrie.

Mexican dollars are liked so much in China that the Chinese government has coined and used them for years, even the words "Republica de Mexico" being left on.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often
Brings Happy Relief Of Pain

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are one of Nature's chief ways of taking the acids and waste out of the blood. If they don't pass 5 pints a day and so get rid of more than 3 pounds of waste matter, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing.

If you have trouble with frequent bladder passages with scanty amount which often smart and burn, the 15 miles of kidney tubes may need flushing out. This danger signal may be the beginning of nagging backache, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes and dizziness.

Don't wait for serious trouble. Ask your druggist for DOAN'S PILLS—which have been used successfully for over 40 years by millions of people. They give happy relief and will help flush out the 15 miles of kidney tubes. Get DOAN'S PILLS.

It's Easier to Believe This Sign Than Pronounce It

Even the residents of the village don't try to utter the mouthful of vowels and consonants that comprise the name of the place, which is LLANFAIRPWLLGWYNGYLLGOGERYCHWYRNDROBWL - LLANTYSILIOGOGGOCH. They simply call it Llantair P. G., but the railroad company insists on using the complete designation on its station sign. Employees are shown as they prepared to put the huge sign away for the winter. The town is on the Isle of Anglesey in North Wales, Great Britain, and its name is believed to be of record length.

Mount Morris

BY PAULINE YOE

The Mount Morris Parent-Teachers Association had a large proportion of its membership in attendance at its special Dad's Night program Monday evening, at the high school auditorium. Mrs. Charles Edson, chairman of the program committee, had arranged an excellent program, consisting of numbers by the high school chorus under the direction of J. Leslie Pierce, and some highly appropriate readings by J. Walker Robbins.

In the address of the evening, Prof. Stanley Finnrock, principal of the Leaf River high school, revealed many interesting facts, in his discussion of "The school's challenge to the citizen."

At a meeting of the Mount Morris Community Chest Board Monday evening at the village hall, it was revealed that all but seventy-six dollars of the $1735 quota had been raised in their recent drive, and from present indications, practically all of this sum will be made up from unsolicited donations.

O. A. Hanke, president of the board, appointed Henry Dohlen, Harold Ross and Mrs. F. G. Meeker as a nominating committee for officers for the coming year.

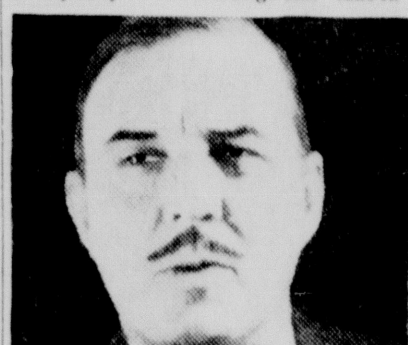

The transient relief committee reported that a total of 52 transients were fed during the month of November, and 19 had received aid up to Monday of this month.

"Built to Take It"

Says Frank Buck,
Famous Explorer

"Trekking" through the jungles has taught me that there is no substitute for ruggedness and dependability in a motor car. For over 20 years Dodge has been famous for these qualities. Everybody knows a Dodge can "take it."

Added to these attributes Dodge has been smashing all economy records—and as for the new 1936 Dodge... there are reports from new Dodge owners all over the country stating they are getting 18 to 24 miles to the gallon of gasoline—and saving up to 20% on oil.

To top it all—this big, new, Money-Saving Dodge has been acclaimed the "Beauty Winner" of 1936 by famous fashion authorities in all parts of the country. Yet Dodge now costs only a few dollars more than the lowest-priced cars.

The local relief committee, consisting of Rev. C. H. Hightower, Paul Yoe, Mrs. F. G. Meeker, Harold Peterson and Henry Dohlen, reported the correction of many physical defects among needy families, and requested that people familiar with needy cases cooperate by reporting them immediately.

The last legal angles relative to the proposed new post office were ironed out, according to a report by J. S. Campbell, president of the Cable News company, which sold the northwest corner of its property on the campus to the post office department. Final arrangements as to the title to the property were entirely cleared on his visit to Chicago last week.

Lovers of art in Dixon will be pleased to learn of a new exhibit of paintings by Mrs. Frank E. Furst of Freeport, featured by the spectacular "Black Primitive," which has been attracting considerable attention.

This painting, just back from exhibition in the National Academy of Design in New York, is a life size nude of a young Negro in jungle setting. It was first shown at the 934 Century of Progress exhibit by Illinois artists, and has been the subject of wide discussion.

Forrest Stevens, who underwent an operation Saturday at the Deaconess hospital, Freeport, and Willard Van Stone, a patient there for a number of weeks, are both reported well on the way to recovery, and may return home the latter part of this week.

Raymond Pollack, R. S. Bentall and Mr. and Mrs. Don Fish of Adel, Iowa, and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Bauldner, Dallas Center, Iowa, were overnight guests in the home of Mrs. Pollack. Mr. Bauldner, who is county agent of Dallas county, and the rest of the party are on their way home from the convention of the National Farm Bureau in Chicago.

As this scene shows, almost bare is taken as the movie, featuring the babies, is filmed. Dr. Jaico, at extreme left, talking to Jean Herscholt, who plays the doctor in the picture, is the only person in the room who is not masked. The cameramen wear gowns and sterile masks and all the actors wear sterilized clothes. Their noses and throats are sprayed before each scene.

Cook said all loan requests should come to REA through local groups or organizations such as local utility, a co-operative or a corporation.

Carter Coal Co. is Winner in District

Washington, Dec. 12 —(AP)—The District of Columbia Supreme Court has granted the Carter Coal Company of Maryland and West Virginia a permanent injunction relieving it of the necessity of paying the accrued penalty tax under the Guffey act designed to regulate the bituminous coal industry.

The coal firm, which challenged the constitutionality of the law, further was granted a temporary order restraining the government from collecting the tax pending appeal to the Supreme Court.

The law provides for a 15 per cent tax on the sale price of the coal at the time, with 90 per cent of the tax deductible by companies conforming to the law.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

EZRA TEACHING THE LAW OF GOD

Text: Ezra 7:10, Nehemiah 8:1-3, 5, 6, 8-12

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Dec. 15.

By WM. E. GILROY, D. D.
Editor of Advance

When Nehemiah had accomplished his task of rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem and establishing safety in the new community, there was, naturally, rejoicing among the people.

In our lesson, this rejoicing is expressed in a great social celebration. The people are gathered in the broad place before the water gate, and Ezra, sincere and earnest priest has brought forth the book of the Law and Moses. There he read from early morning until mid-day, and the people worshiped Jehovah with their faces to the ground, giving thanks for all that had been accomplished.

A great day might have been marred by making it one of sorrow and humiliation. Nehemiah was determined that it should be a day of holiness, not of weeping and mourning. The people, indeed, did weep as they heard the words of the Lord, and their emotion may well have been one of joy as well as of repentance.

But Nehemiah was building a joyful and happy community. He wanted to establish prosperity upon a true basis of righteousness and mutual responsibility.

So he said to the people, in words that are famous, "Go your way, eat the fat and drink the sweet, and send portions unto him for whom nothing is prepared."

A people may be judged by the spirit of its holidays. Are these days of real rejoicing, or are they days of sordid and vulgar pleasure? Too often our great national festivals have been days of indulgence and degradation, rather than days filled with joy.

The great contribution that the Jewish Scriptures have made to life, if we would but realize it, is the conception of a prosperity, individual and social, built upon integrity and social righteousness. More and more we have occasion, nationally and in the modern world, to realize the truth of this conception and the need of building it into life.

Our problems are no longer the problems of lack and want; they were guests in the Mrs. Helena Bitter home Tuesday.

Mrs. John Neek arrived from Winona, Minn., Sunday to assist in caring for her sister, Miss Nonie Klock, who fell Friday and fractured her leg.

DAILY HEALTH

SMOLLETT AND WATER: I To the Institute of the History of Medicine of the Johns Hopkins University we are indebted for the reprinting of "An Essay on the External Use of Water," composed by the famous English novelist and physician, Tobias Smollett.

This essay, composed in 1752, is illuminating in numerous ways. Principally it serves to focus our attention on the "external use of water," a therapeutic medium still largely neglected. Secondly, it reveals to us the unique genius of its author, Tobias Smollett, and it also reflects the state of medical intelligence prevailing in his day.

Tobias Smollett (1721-1771) is best known to us as a novelist, but he was also a physician trained in Scotland. He served as an apprentice to Dr. John Gordon in 1736. In 1740 he was warranted surgeon's second mate in the British navy, and served for a period of two years in H. M. S. Chichester.

Smollett gave a stirring description of his medical experiences in his "Compendium of Voyages."

The degree of medicine Smollett acquired in 1750 (in those days a surgeon was not a doctor) and it appears that until 1762 he continued his practice of medicine.

However, Smollett was not destined for a medical career, and he early neglected the practice of medicine and devoted himself to literature. But he never completely shed his interest in medicine, and as Claude E. Jones, commentator on the Hopkins reprint, states: "Through the fabric of Dr. Smollett's work, the red thread of medicine is apparent in thumbnail sketches of medical men. In medical observations, in exploits involving medical figures, and in satirical comments on the state of healing at his time."

In one such comment, Smollett observed "I am inclined to believe, that the mineral principles in Hot Springs, have often, in the cure of patients by bathing, usurped that praise and reputation which was really due to the simple element—water."

When they catch a speeder, Belgrade police require him to deflate all four tires and then wait until a considerable crowd collects before permitting him to inflate them—by hand.

Brazil has the largest number of Japanese residents—173,500—outside of the mother country. Hawaii is second with 150,000 and the United States third, with 146,000.

Scarlet Fever Immunization Free to Sublette Children

(Telegraph Special Service)

Sublette—Through the cooperation of the Sublette township board of health and the village board, it has been arranged to have all school children of the Sublette township and village of Sublette schools given scarlet fever toxin free of charge. This toxin, when given to children, will prevent them from having scarlet fever for the remainder of their lives. The expense of the toxin is paid by the township board of health and the work of administering it to the children is provided for by the Sublette board of health.

This will keep scarlet fever out of the schools the same as it has kept diphtheria out for the last two years by giving all of the school children the treatment. It is now possible, it is claimed, to protect the children against these dreadful diseases by the very simple preventative, when young and the immunity will last a life time. Scarlet fever in the past has been one of the most dreaded diseases of childhood. The Illinois state board of health has not been financially able to furnish the scarlet fever toxin, with the result that the Sublette township and village boards of health decided to finance the undertaking.

Frozen apples have been kept four months without losing an appreciable amount of vitamin C.

DETAILED PLANS FOR METHODISTS UNION ARE TOLD

Expected to Bring All Believers in Faith Into One Church

Washington, Dec. 12—(AP)—A plan to bring 8,000,000 Methodists together into a united church after more than 100 years of separation was disclosed in detail for the first time today.

A judicial council with power to rule on the constitutionality of church conference actions is an important part of the plan. The council's functions would be somewhat similar to those of the supreme court.

The council idea is incorporated in a "plan of union" to consolidate the three main denominational groups of Methodism in this country under a new name—The Methodist Church.

The plan recently was ratified at Cincinnati by representatives of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, and the Methodist Protestant church. Details were announced today by Dr. Harry E. Woolever, secretary of the joint commission of Methodist union.

Must Be Approved
Before the plan can go into effect it must be approved by the general conferences of the three denominations. Then the local churches must ratify through annual conferences. Church leaders are certain of ultimate approval.

Pennsylvania will have the largest membership in the new church—469,839. Ohio will be next with 463,665 and Texas third with 437,835.

The six jurisdictions, with their total membership and the states comprising them, include:

North Central: (1,735,461) Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota.

Final Report—

book system; a permanent cash record system in the office of the county superintendent of schools; the turning over of all receipts upon collection instead of a periodical return in the office of the county superintendent of highways; the use of duplicate receipts for all monies received in the coroner's office.

Manuals Required.
The chief auditor emphasized to the board the importance of requiring all county officers to arrange a detailed manual of procedure in their respective offices for the information and guidance of incoming officers, such manual to be based upon sound accounting principles.

An annual audit of all departments was the final recommendation as Mr. Wood informed the board that "thousands of dollars are lost annually to Lee county, due to the condition of the present inefficient records."

Chairman Burhenn expressed his commendation to the auditors for their efficient report and the recommendations and suggested that the board should consider and take some action upon the latter. Chairman Garrison of the finance committee made the motion that the report of the auditors be accepted, approved and placed on file, the board concurring unanimously in this action. Supervisor Henry Knetsch then offered a motion that the finance committee be instructed to investigate the recommendations of the auditors and to report at the adjourned meeting, which motion also met with the unanimous approval of the board.

$6,766.02 to Treasury.

Supervisor Garrison presented a motion in which the board members voted unanimously instructing County Treasurer Walter Ortleng to receive the sums of $2,289.29 and $4,476.73 from County Clerk Sterling D. Schrock in full settlement of the latter's accounts.

Members of the judiciary committee recommended that the application of Mrs. Etta Stillwell for a blind pension be not granted.

County Superintendent of Highways Fred W. Leake reported on the progress of the WPA program in Lee county. At the present time the county has expended the sum of $1,996.90 on the projects, he stated, and added:

"Of all of the promises made by the federal government of what they would do if the county entered into this program, about the only promise that has been kept is that of the furnishing of some of the men. I visited the offices in Chicago yesterday and after observing the detail work that is being done, am not surprised that no further progress has been made in Lee county."

220 Men at Work.
He reported that about 220 men were now employed on the township-county program and of this total, about 150 were in the employ of the county. The original program, he added, provided employment for about 380 men. The county project, the county superintendent told the board, called for the use of 90 trucks. At the present time but 40 have been assigned, and of this number but 30 are being paid for by the government. He added that he had received the assurance of the assignment of ten more trucks by Saturday.

"To continue this program for the next three months, it will be necessary for this board to appropriate some money," the superintendent continued. He estimated that about 20,000 yards of material would be spread on the county-township road system during the next three months, weather permitting. He estimated the total cost at $11,120 for this work, adding that a balance of $3,003.00 remained. He suggested the appropriation by the board of the sum of $10,000 with which to carry on the WPA program in the county for the next three months. Action was delayed on the suggestion until the adjourned meeting on January 3.

The hymn, "From Greenland's Icy Mountains," was written in 15 minutes by Bishop Heber.

MEANWELL IS INVOLVED IN CONTROVERSY

Badger Coaching Upheaval Rife Again Today

Madison, Wis., Dec. 12—(AP)—Regents of the University of Wisconsin entered the university's coaching upheaval actively today after an exchange of denials and counter-denials by two principals in the dispute.

Chairman Harold Wilkie of the board of regents invited anyone with "specific facts relating to the athletic situation at Wisconsin to submit them before the regents meet in special session Dec. 19.

The regents Tuesday had arranged to have a three-man committee of the athletic council make the only inquiry into charges that Athletic Director Walter Meanwell encouraged a poll of the football team for the removal of Dr. Clarence Spears as football coach.

One of the committeemen publicly stated Tuesday night that allegations against Meanwell appeared to be unfounded.

Meanwell Defends Action
Meanwell issued a 2,000-word statement contending his actions were ethical since he, as athletic director, was responsible for the welfare of the department. Captain-elect John Golemeske, who admitted polling the team with Meanwell's consent, accused Meanwell of "twisting" the facts.

In a notarized statement, Golemeske made a new charge—that Meanwell had offered him a drink of whiskey when the team was returning from a game this season.

Speaking at a high school football banquet at LaCrosse last night, Spears was given a vote of confidence, and William H. Stevenson, an alumnus, asserted:

"Spears is the best coach Wisconsin ever had, and Wisconsin has had a lot of coaches. Doc, I want to tell you we're all with you."

When Chual, fourteenth emperor of Japan, died in the year 200, the Empress Jingo assumed the government, fitted out an army and led it on a successful invasion of Korea.

The trend toward heavier automobiles has been continued in the 1936 cars.

Master of Illinois Grange is Reelected

Belleville, Ill., Dec. 12—(AP)—For the ninth consecutive two-year term, Eugene A. Eckert, St. Clair county farmer, has been State Master of the Illinois Grange.

Kewanee was selected as the site of the 1936 convention. A group of resolutions pertaining to national and state problems awaited action by the convention today, the closing day of the convention.

Others elected included: John Hagenstoz, Washington, Overseer; Roy Moss, Belvidere, Lecturer; Wayne

Buck, Macon, Steward; Leslie Carlson, Belvidere, Assistant Steward; Mrs. Ruby Lauder, Belvidere, Chaplain; Herbert Kiel, Washington, Treasurer; Clarence Kleckner, of Rockford, Secretary; Leon Chapman, Kewanee, Gatekeeper; Mrs. Wanda Carpenter, Sycamore, Ceres; Mrs. Millie Wilson, Fairdale, Flora; Mrs. Roy Timmons, Hanna City, Pomona.

The first automobile show ever held in Cuba is planned for early January in Havana.

Omaha May Enter English Racing

New York, Dec. 12—(AP)—William Woodward's Omaha, king of the 1935 three-year-olds, will invade the English turf next year if he has fully recovered from the mysterious ailment that forced his retirement last August.

The stretch-running son of Gallant Fox, which like his famous sire won the Kentucky Derby, Preakness, Belmont Stakes and the Arlington classic, is doing light work at his owner's Belair stud in Maryland. Even to the expert eye he shows no signs of the ailment that had his trainer, James Fitzsimmons and veterinarians guessing since he went lame after winning the classic.

Only an extended workout can determine whether Omaha is ready to go after the coveted Ascot Gold Cup, the race in which Mrs. John D. Hertz's Reigh Count finished in 1929.

During the year the chestnut speedster piled up earnings of $142,275.

Rockford Woman in Denial of Charges She Abused Babies

Rockford, Ill., Dec. 12—(AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Madonna, 27, denied in court the charge that two of her children showed signs of extreme cruelty or near starvation.

The young mother of six, brought from the county jail, pleaded innocent when arraigned before County Judge O. M. Williams, and was returned to jail pending trial.

Meanwhile Mary Lou Madonna, 4, and Teresa Jane, 2½, were fed and nursed in the children's home. Their mother denied the belief of authorities that wells on the children's bodies were the marks of beatings with a hot poker. Petitions asking that five of the children be taken from the mother are on file in Judge Williams' court. The father is in jail, serving a 30-day sentence for larceny.

A $10,000 trophy honoring past winners of Indianapolis Speedway races will be unveiled at the 1936 event.

State Institutions Freight Coal Bill to Total $392,544

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 12—(AP)—Illinois will pay $392,544 in transportation costs for 322,710 tons of coal to be used by state institutions this winter, M. S. Bibb, state purchasing agent, said.

He also said contracts with 63 mine operators have been signed. The coal itself will cost $473,762 and most of the shipments will be by railroad.

Under a law enacted by the last General Assembly, Bibb said, the contracts were allocated to the mining areas in such a manner as to provide employment for the largest number of men.

Transportation costs of the fuel will be $49,376 more than quoted in initial bids of operators. The increase amounted to 15 cents a ton, due, Bibb said, to miners signing new contracts between the time the bids were submitted and the contracts signed, giving them higher wages.

The Illinois Central lines will haul 131,600 tons, the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy line 59,200 tons and the Illinois Terminal System 27,700. Several other lines will share in the remaining tonnage.

Patrons Freeport Rural Route Happy

Chicago, Dec. 12—(AP)—Lloyd and Lucy are reunited, which is good news for farmers on a 35 mile mail route out of Freeport, Ill. It means they'll get their Christmas mail.

The farmers felt some concern on that score ten days ago when it was learned that Lloyd (that's Lloyd Hirst of Freeport) had lost Lucy. Lucy is the trusty motorcycle which for years carried Lloyd on his rural mail route, rain or shine.

With the mail getting heavier every day, Lloyd was becoming penitently. Thirty-five miles is a long way on foot.

But yesterday police here received a call that a departing guest had abandoned a motorcycle in the rear of a South State street hotel. Bundled to the eyes, Lloyd appeared at the station and identified Lucy. The drive back home, he said, would be a mere breeze.

Redistribution of Income New Scheme of Cabinet Member

Washington, Dec. 12—(AP)—Secretary Wallace has pictures "redistribution of income" as a prime necessity which the nation cannot escape.

The agricultural secretary, in his annual report, favored an increase in the proportion of the national income that goes to poorer persons. He held this would increase consumption and make for expansion of production by factory and farm. Wallace laid stress on expansion, in contrast to AAA's crop reduction programs, which officials have described as emergency measures only. Wallace contended these emergency programs were made necessary by high tariffs.

STARS FROM THE START! QUINT'S SHINE IN FILM 'BOW' Just Like Old Troupers, Quins Make Movie Debut

"Seems to be a lot going on around here today, but are we excited? Not a bit," was the attitude of the Dionne quintuplets as they made their debut before the movie camera in their Callander, Ont., home. The most poised individuals in the nursery, they went right ahead with their routine, as shown here, playing up in great style to the Dr. Dafoe of the film, Jean Hersholt, who is making friends with them in this scene. And Nurse Dorothy Peterson seems to be in solid already as she carefully holds her precious burden. "Best baby actresses I ever saw," was the director's verdict.

"And how are all my little girls this morning?" beams Jean Hersholt, as he plays the role of Dr. A. E. Dafoe in "The Country Doctor," movie vehicle in which the Dionne quintuplets are making their cinema debut.
They're doing fine, as a pair of them demonstrate, crowding to the edge of the crib to greet the doctor.

"I'm an actress now. You just watch me play my part," this little Dionne seems to be telling the world, as she clutches tightly on the side of her crib, holding the center of the stage
all by herself for the moment.
Notice that pose and that poise.
Just like a veteran trouper she's standing as the camera is trained on her.

"Well, what's this we see? Always something new around this place," appears to be the thought of these four quins as the movie camera is trained on them. But they're not at all flustered as the cameraman grinds away. And Nurse Dorothy Peterson is right at home in her role, as she holds one of the actresses aloft.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
After the death of her parents, lovely DANA WESTBROOK comes from abroad to make her home with her grandmother, MRS. WILLARD CAMERON.
Dana's half-sister, NANCY WALLACE, resents Dana's coming. Dana's grandmother is elated when rich RONALD MOORE falls in love with her granddaughter. Dana, meanwhile, has become attracted to DR. SCOTT STANLEY, a struggling young physician.
Nancy tries to mask her love for Ronald behind an antagonistic attitude, unobtrusively watches his love for Dana deepen. Just as anxiously, RONALD LOVES watches Scott Stanley's interest in Dana increase.
Dana and Scott, swept away by their love for each other, recklessly decide to marry. Mrs. Cameron gloomily predicts that the marriage will not last. Paula is torn by an emotional storm over the news that Scott and Dana have married.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XX

PAULA said to the housekeeper, "Fix me up something to drink. Something stiff. And bring another package of cigarettes. After that I don't want to be disturbed—not by anyone."

Her directions were followed discreetly, and in silence.

"Why don't you say something?" Paula shrilled wildly, her taut nerves snapping. "Didn't you hear the news? Scott's married!"

"Yes, I know," Charlotte told her. "I'm sorry."

"Sorry? What are you sorry about?"

"I'm afraid he's made a mistake," Charlotte said quietly. "He had no business getting married when he's just beginning his practice."

"Of course he hadn't," Paula gulped down the strong drink and made a wry face.

"He'll probably regret it," Charlotte said. "No one knew Paula so well as her housekeeper, who had devoted herself to spoiling Paula, catering to her every whim, for years."

"All right, now. Go out and let me sleep."

When the door closed, Paula flung herself down. Deep, terrible sobs were smothered against a pillow.

She told herself that she hated Scott. She never wanted to see him again! The paroxysm over, she lay staring with glazed, pained eyes at the beautiful, ornate room.

It might have been different, she thought, if she had allowed Scott to see what was in her heart instead of hiding her love. She had been so afraid of losing his companionship that she had accepted crumbs—the confidence and affection he gave her. But she had never let him look into that secret place of her heart, filled so long with nothing but him.

"I know every mood of his," Paula thought desolately. "It will take her years to know him as I do. And yet she walks off with him after a few months and marries him!"

Perhaps if they had not gone to the club that afternoon, he would not have met Dana. Or if Dana had not had some misunderstanding with Ronnie Moore this wouldn't have happened.

Maybe . . . maybe . . . there were those terrible pains in her head again. They always came when Paula was emotionally upset. More terrible than ever . . . blinding her with pain. Setting her crazy.

She got up and staggered to the dressing table. From her purse she took a small key which she fitted into a jewelry case. From the jewelry case she lifted a small box. For a moment, she stared at the little white pill. She was remembering that quick doctor's words. He had been called in one night at a hotel where she was staying. He had given her one of these pills, withholding the name from her. It had brought relief from pain almost miraculously. For a price, he had finally revealed the name of it. But he had said: "I warn you to leave this alone. It means hellish consequences."

ON the day Dana and Scott returned from their honeymoon, Paula had gone shopping, looking for a wedding present.

She considered silver and china. But she didn't know the patterns they preferred. She doubted that Dana and Scott had even selected patterns. Marrying so suddenly, they couldn't have planned anything.

She decided on a beautiful and expensive lamp, the shade designed in an elaborate Oriental pattern. She had completed this part of her shopping expedition and was preparing to park her car before undertaking some other errands when a roadster pulled out from the curb.

Paula recognized the occupants. Ronnie Moore—and Dana!

After the first shock, Paula greeted them gayly. She felt excited. Here was Scott's bride, back from a 10-day honeymoon, and already meeting Ronnie downtown.

Deep in her heart a voice whispered, "Patience, Paula—just have patience!" She could almost hear the words, singing themselves aloud.

THAT night Dana said to Scott: "I went shopping and Ronnie brought me home."

"That was nice," Scott said. He was standing by a window, looking out. Dana thought his face seemed sober, troubled. His voice had sounded grim too.

"You don't mind, do you?" Her voice faltered a little.

Scott wheeled from the window. "Great heavens, no!" He laughed. "But you look worried!"

"I am worried," Scott admitted. "It's Mrs. Wilkins. One of the prettiest, cleanest operations I ever performed. And now something's happened and the incision must be reopened. There's no accounting for things like that."

"Who is Mrs. Wilkins?"

"Mrs. Wilkins is a very important person to you and to me. My first surgical in this town. It would mean something to have trouble set in." He added, "Then too, she's a nice old lady."

Dana felt an impulse to laugh. She had been so conscientious.

nerving herself to tell Scott about that accidental meeting with Ronnie. And he hadn't even been interested. It was hard to decide which was worse—a jealous husband or a husband who wasn't even mildly jealous.

Packages began to arrive next day. Soon the small apartment was overflowing with boxes, as Scott's friends and friends of the Cameron family sent good wishes in the time-honored way—in the form of packages from jewelry stores and gift shops.

Dana found it an exciting pastime, opening the packages with Scott. Despite his teasing, she staunchly refused to untie a single ribbon alone.

"It wouldn't be any fun without you," she said.

They already had faced the perplexing problem of where to put these gifts in their limited quarters. "Gosh!" Scott exclaimed. "If this keeps up, we'll need a house. Maybe I made a mistake giving up the old place."

"We'll find places," said resourceful Dana. "And you didn't make a mistake. Think how nice it will be this winter without a furnace to bother with."

NEVER, never would she let Scott know that that first, deep disappointment she had felt when he had brought her to this home.

"This," said Dana, her arms lifted high to Scott who was standing on a chair, packing wedding gifts on a high shelf, "is the penalty for marrying such a good-looking and popular doctor."

Paula's present, which Dana called "light from the East," was one of those that was not packed out of sight. It looked very grand, and oddly out of place, in the modest apartment.

Paula had dropped in the day before and then dashed home for a beautiful Oriental tapestry and two gorgeous vases. "I have no earthly use for them since they don't match the scheme of my place," she said. "So please use them, Dana."

Neither did Dana think they matched the scheme of her apartment, but to refuse was out of the question. She watched, with misgivings, as Paula tacked the elaborate tapestry above the couch.

Dana didn't like it. She didn't like the Oriental vases, or the Oriental lamp either.

But what could she do about it when Paula was obviously trying to be friendly?

Nancy breezed in presently. "Where's the incense?" she had asked. "And the teakwood and the carved ivory and all the rest? I must say, I wouldn't have suspected you of anything like this, Dana."

"Paula brought them. She seemed anxious for us to use them," Dana said doubtfully. "I'm afraid they make this living room look pretty awful."

"Smooth as silk," Nancy commented.

After a moment, Dana realized Nancy had not been talking about the living room.

THIS gawky little fellow with the big bright eyes is a newly born frigate bird. He belongs to a family of sea birds living along the tropical and sub-tropical coasts of the New World, feeding on fish and other sea food. The frigates are famous for their graceful flights and the high altitudes they reach. They are particularly clever at stunt flying. They seldom dive for their prey—simply swoop down and snatch the fish as they come to the surface, or steal them from the mouths of other birds. For this reason they often are called Man-o-War Hawks.

Along the coast of Peru great flocks of them sail across the sky like black clouds—and their mealtime antics are one of the amusing sights which entertain passengers taking the weekly cruises to Peru and Chile.

When full grown the frigate birds are very large—sometimes achieving a length of three feet and a wing spread of ten feet. Their feet are small, their legs short, but their beaks are very long—about five inches—with a very marked hook. During breeding time they collect in colonies on ocean isles or sea cliffs, building simple cup nests and laying a single white egg. The male has a pouch on his throat which at times turns to a deep scarlet and becomes greatly inflated. This vivid balloon neckpiece is greatly ad-

CUBS ANGLING FOR TALENT AT LOOP MEETING

May Trade Klein to Phillies For Curt Davis

Chicago, Dec. 12.—(AP)—The re-organized Boston Braves opened a rebuilding campaign today by trading Outfielder Randy Moore and Pitcher Dutch Brandt to Brooklyn for Catcher Al Lopez. Second Base- man Tony Cucinello and Pitchers Ray Benge and Bob Reis.

General Manager Bob Quinn of the Braves also announced the out- right release of the veteran Flint Rrem and Pitcher John Van de Mere, a farm hand who was with Scranton last season.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—(AP)—Their rivals in the last World Series, the Detroit Tigers, having repaired a weak spot by the acquisition of Al Simmons, the National League champion Chicago Cubs appeared on the verge of doing something along the same line today.

Where the Tigers needed, and got, another strong outfielder in Simmons, the Cubs' most pressing need last season was one more reliable starting pitcher. They did nicely in their own league without but Manager Charlie Grimm never ceased to yearn.

It was reported that the on-and-off deal by which the Cubs would obtain Curt Davis, star right-hander of the Phillies, for outfielder Chuck Klein, was on again. The plot was thick yesterday morning, thinned out almost to nothing last night, and thickened up again after mid- night.

The most reliable report had it that the Cubs would return Klein, for whom they gave a reported $100,000 and three players in 1933, to the Phillies for Davis. In addition, the Phillies would receive a pitcher and possible a little money.

The pitchers mentioned were Roy Henshaw, tiny southpaw; Fabian Kowalk, young right-hander, and James (Tex) Carleton, veteran right-hander obtained from St. Louis a year ago.

Swap Is Possibility
That the swap was a warm possibility was indicated by the actions of Charlie Grimm, manager and vice president of the Cubs. After talking things over most of the day with Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Phillies, he said he had given up and would return to his home in St. Louis last night. Later, he suddenly announced that he had to stay over.

Another National league deal was hinted when Bob Quinn, newly installed president and general manager of the Boston Braves, said he would have an important announcement to make today. It was believed that he would announce the sale of southpaw pitcher Ed (Dutch) Brandt to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The American league completed the only transaction of major importance yesterday. The New York Yankees, desperately eager to do something to offset, at least in part the gains in power by the Boston Red Sox, gave the equally eager Cleveland Indians Johnny Allen, talented and temperamental right-hander, for a pair of hurlers, Monte Pearson and Steve Sundra, the latter a rookie. The Amalgamated Order of Hotel Lobby Orators was not able to decide which finished ahead in the deal.

Red Sox Active
The rampaging Red Sox showed signs of again becoming active today. It was rumored they would give outfielder Roy Jones for his brother, outfielder Bob Johnson of the Philadelphia Athletics, in a straight swap. Tom Yawkey, the man man with the Boston bankroll, and his general manager, Eddie Collins, also were detected in a mysterious midnight huddle with Clark Griffith owner of the Washington Senators.

The finish of routine business was on the program for today with the two big leagues meeting in joint session. Both organizations passed the following legislation in their own meeting yesterday:
Voted to alter schedules so that each club will play four inter-sectional series a season, instead of three; voted that full staffs of umpires be assigned to spring training games; voted to take action to stop sneak radio broadcasts of games in parks where such activity is barred. Joint approval of these acts was considered mere formality.

The United States is the chief supplier of radio sets which are being imported in increased number by China. The bulk of the trade is centered in the Shanghai area where some 50 broadcasting stations are operating.

Purple and White Men Meet Rock Falls and Princeton Cage Teams

Locals Commence N. C. I. Slate On December 20

Dixon high school's double barreled basketball appointment with a Rock River Valley opponent and a future N. C. I. rival this week end has engaged the Sharpens in a strenuous week of practice at the high school gymnasium.

The Purple and White quints will invade Rock Falls tomorrow night for a pair of games, the first beginning at 7:15 P. M. and on Saturday will be at home to entertain the strong Princeton Tigers.

The same line-up that took the court against the Alumni is expected to be seen in the heavyweight games against both Rock Falls and Princeton. Reback and Evans paired at forwards, Klein became center, and Krug and Durkes were guards, the latter pair alternating with Ankeny and L. Miller. This year, Coach Sharpe has promoted Klein and Krug from the light-weight positions they held last year to heavyweight berths. Their ability to keep their positions will depend on their work. Krug having especially strong competition from the other three guards.

Showed Offensive Punch
Although the local mentors were apprehensive regarding the offensive ability of the 1935-36 edition before last Friday, the demonstration of power against the Alumni in which the Purple and White crew hung up a 35 to 24 victory relieved that nervousness considerably. Because Princeton was defeated 29 to 19 by Amboy Township high Tuesday, is no criterion that the Tigers will be easy prey however. As for Rock Falls, the Whiteside county team has always been a tough nut to crack in any form of interscholastic competition.

Dixon does not embark upon its N. C. I. conference schedule until Friday, December 20, when De Kalb's Barbs will invade the local gymnasium with only one veteran in their line-up. He is the lanky Terwilliger, who played havoc with the locals last winter.

Yellowjackets Suspend Action Indefinitely

Owing to the condition of the amusement hall floor, Captain Le-land (Slim) Mansfield said yesterday that all basketball games for the Dixon State Hospital Yellowjackets have been suspended indefinitely.

The Employees were scheduled to play St. Anne's tonight at the State Hospital. It was not certain today that St. Anne's would organize a team this year. The church boys have had difficulty enlisting enough players for a team.

Coach Charlie Roundy of the Dixon grade school team, said Tuesday his city grade school league schedule will soon move into a strenuous 1935-36 basketball season and that some of the Dixon graders will engage interscholastic opposition in other communities this year also. Announcements concerning the grade school games will be made later.

LOUIS SEEKS UZCUDUN WIN AND 22nd KAYO

Paulino At 36 Has Risked His Jaw With 69 Foes

New York, Dec. 12.—(AP)—A year—almost to a day—after he first achieved national recognition as a boxer, dusky Joe Louis will step into the Madison Square Garden tomorrow night to give his now famous punch its hardest test on the cast-iron features of Paulino Uzcudun.

It was on Dec. 14, 1934, that Joe beat Lee Ramage and flashed into national prominence as a comer. Since then he has fought as often as his managers would let him and seldom has failed to produce a knockout with his lethal left. He put boxing back into a "big time" basis last summer with his bouts against Primo Carnera and Max Baer, and he is expected to draw some 20,000 fans tomorrow.

Never On Canvas.
Although opinion is almost unanimous that Joe will beat the durable Basque, who is 15 years older and known more as a "catcher" than a puncher, the capacity crowd is expected to lay more than $100,000 on the line to see if he will be the first man to knock Paulino off his feet.

Uzcudun, at 36, has risked his jaw against 69 rivals, including a lot of famous punchers, and has come through unscathed. He is sure that Louis will not put him on the canvas for the first time.

Like Max Schmeling, who is slated to encounter Louis in June if Joe can get past Paulino, Isidor Gastanaga and Charley Retzlaff, the Basque insists Louis is not a superman and can be defeated by a good fighter who can hit him on the right spot.

The 21-year-old Detroit Negro has a record of 21 knockouts in 25 professional victories and expects to add to that list. He has predicted that he'll stop Paulino inside of six rounds.

The fox wraps his tail about him like a comforter while he sleeps.

Gets Excited; Shoots Wrong Goal; Rivals Win Soccer Contest

Kannapolis, N. C., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Chet Smith of the Kannapolis soccer team starred in the game with Catawba—but for his opponents.

It looked as if Catawba, beaten in all its starts, was going through the season without a victory. Then Chet got mixed up, kicked a goal for Catawba against his teammates and Catawba won, 1-0.

Larger generators and batteries in the new cars make starting much easier.

REVOLTA MOVES ON BIG MONEY HONOR IN GOLF

Wins Sarasota Open Following Up Orlando Win

Sarasota, Fla., Dec. 12.—(AP)—Johnny Revolta, curly-headed PGA champion from Milwaukee, had a flying start today toward the title of biggest money winner for the annual tour of resort fairways.

Slashing par by six strokes in the final round yesterday, he carded a 274 for the $2000 Sarasota open tournament and pocketed $500 first money. His 65 on the stretch went into the books as a new course record and his 72-hole score was 10 below par.

The $500 was added to the $350 he won at Orlando last week in the opening event of the winter tour. He tied Bobby Cruickshank of Richmond, Va., for first place at Orlando, but lost in the playoff.

Victor Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., finished second here two strokes back of Revolta, and Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., was third with 277. Unable to continue the daz- zling pace he set for two early rounds, Alvin Krueger of Beloit, Wis., wound up with a 279 and tied with Ky Laffoon of Chicago.

Both, however, were beaten out by Jimmy Hines of Garden City, L. I., and Bill Mehlhorn of Louisville, Ky., who carded 278's.

Morton McCarthy of Norfolk, Va. was low amateur by a wide margin with 284.

Nut League Teams All Beaten With Exception of Two

At the conclusion of the first week of play all of Dixon high's Nut league basketball teams except the Beechnuts and the Grapenuts found themselves in the ranks of the beaten.

The Beechnuts and Grapenuts were leading the pack with two victories and no defeats each. The Walnuts, Hickorynuts, Doughnuts, Hazelnuts had each won a game and lost one. The Cocanuts and Butternuts had yet to win a game. Last night the standings were due for another revision with the Cocanuts playing the Hazelnuts, the Beechnuts risking their unbeaten slate against the Walnuts, the Doughnuts trying to depose the undefeated Grapenuts and the Butternuts playing the Hickory- nuts.

They are Louis Skoffie, an out- fielder, and Eddie Morgan, out- fielder and first baseman, both of the Bloomington (Ill.) Cardinals of the Three-I league, and J. C. Clark, an outfielder and catcher of the Asheville (N. C.) club of the Piedmont League.

Each of the three hit above .340 last season.
